THE TOWN CRIER

BY BONNIE WELLER

THE FIRST RAIN of the season washed the hills and trees. Sort of soft and silent it was -- and warm. The kind you like to walk in. Did you notice the cloudlet tufts of white fog drifting here and there across the hills? Reminded me of the angel-hair we used to drape among the branches of Christmas trees.

HALLOWEEN is almost here! The traditional UNICEF Halloween party will be held at Tularcitos School on Trick-or-Treat night from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m. Mrs. Lou Gardner says they haven't arranged a program as yet, but they'll have fun-and-games, if nothing else. The kids will beknockingon your doors, for a donation to UNICEF in lieu of the usual treats.

Also Mrs. Gardner says that the ARTISTS CO-OP GALLERY in the Village and IMPORTS & at Carmel Rancho will be selling UNICEF cards this year. As you know, UNICEF cards are designed and donated by famous artists. There are some beautiful ones this year -- some whimsical ones, too. Remember that when you buy UNICEF cards, you're contributing to the work of the Nobel Prize-winning United Nations Children's Fund.

DON'T FORGET to take the kiddies to see "Louie the Scarecrow" this weekend on Saturday or Sunday. He'll be giving the children free suckers, while they look for jack-o-lanterns. Louis Wolter says he has his largest pumpkin ever -- weighing 123 pounds -- which is on display.

xxx

THE MINI-OLYMPICS, originally scheduled at Carmelo School for last week, were cancelled, and will take place this Friday, October 24.

xxx

SPEAKING OF POSTPONEMENTS, Leslie LeCron's party at the Thunderbird which was to be held Friday has been cancelled. As soon as a new order of his book, "Make Your Magic Mind Power Work For You," arrives at the book-store, the autograph party will be rescheduled. If you want to know more about Mr. Le Cron, see the feature in next issue.

xxx

THE THUNDERBIRD PARTY for Louise McCann will be this Saturday from 4:00 to 7:00 p.m. Her booklet, "Open the Door and See All the People," was designed to benefit the establishment of child-care centers.

xxx

WELL, THE STIRRUP CUP TAVERN in the Village was robbed again! After they'd closed up one night last week, someone broke in and took the coins in the cigarette machine and juke box. About $95 was taken. And the burglar exited through the front door, an investigation revealed.

xxx

IN LAST WEEK'S ISSUE of Saturday Review, there is an excellent article entitled "The Ghostly War of The Green Berets" by Horace Sutton. My friend, Mary Arnn, called the article to my attention. Her husband, Captain John Arnn, was killed in Viet Nam almost four years ago. Those concerned about the recent shadow cast upon our men in Special Services should make an effort to read this enlightening piece.

ALSO, WITH SO MANY QUESTIONS remaining unanswered in regard to our revolutionary changes, many of you will appreciate Rollo May's new book, "Love and Will." Always having profound insights into our behavior, he gives some convincing explanations for the apathy so prevalent in today's society -- and how sex has been separated from love in our mass media.

DR. AND MRS. JAMES J. SHORT returned from a visit with their son and his family in Salt Lake City last week. Donner Pass was covered with snow, when they traveled over that precarious road. Now that she's given up writing books, Mrs. Short says she doesn't understand how she stays busy all the time. Other people know, however. Besides keeping their large home and working with young people, Mrs. Short is a superb cook. A few weeks back, we had dinner with the Shorts -- turkey, dressing, and all the trimmings! Her specialty is breads, which she makes for all festive events. Anyway, they're glad to be home again, even though they had a wonderful time with their children and grandchildren.

GILBERT BOYER, Carmel concert pianist, left again for the Northwest on a concert tour. In addition to playing two all-Chopin concerts, he will conduct a Chopin workshop for the Tri-City Music Teachers' Association in Washington. In early November, Mr. Boyer will continue his tour in New Mexico and on the East Coast. Following his eastern stint, he will open his European tour with a concert at the National Conservatory of Music in Lisbon, Portugal. Between these appearances, Mr. Boyer will return to the Peninsula to play solo concerts and sonata recitals with the Rumanian violinist Eugene Stoia, who has just returned from Europe.

BACK-TO-SCHOOL NIGHT for parents held last week at Carmel High School was lots of fun. Between classes, we stood outside Brey Hall. A teacher passing by called out, "Can I help you?" We answered that we had no second period. "Oh," he said, "then go downtown and cause some trouble." Of course, we all laughed. Outside Mr. Kahl's chemistry room was his famous skeleton dangling in the center of the walkway - with a red light blinking where his heart had once been. The skeleton's, that is. The music emanating from the classroom was reminiscent of Doc's Lab in Steinbeck's "Cannery Row." In Humanities class, we listened to Mr. LeValley as he sat comfortably in his rocking chair. The kids in Humanities really enjoyed their field trip to Sculpture Center on Cannery Row the week before. Afterwards, coffee and cookies were served in the gymnasium. What impressed us most was the enthusiasm exhibited by the teachers and the fact that the high school program is being carried out more and more on a university plan. This should make the transition for our youngsters much easier when they enter college.

The Rhyming Philosopher

HAPPINESS

When I was young I didn't think ahead much,
But now I've found out things I wish I'd known.
To me all words of wisdom never said much;
I've learned it all the hard way since I've grown.

I won't admit to being dumb or lazy;
When called upon in need I did my best.
Adverse conditions never seemed to faze me,
Yet no one else but me became impressed.

I've learned that no one yet knows all the answers,
And no one knows for sure what's right or wrong.
While history gets written by romancers,
Reality is more than just a song.

You can't be self-sufficient needing no one,
We have to lean on someone else at times.
And those who don't have ulcers learn to grow one
When baffled by accumulating dimes.

I started out in life with nothing on me,
With all my future course still undefined,
And after all these years it dawns upon me
That happiness is just a state of mind!

"I'M NOT UNHAPPY, just lonesome." If you or your child needs a pet, why not stop in at the SPCA Shelter near Laguna Seca? --Photo by Virginia Kay

Do you remember . . . . .

ONE YEAR AGO:

"Candles illuminating carved pumpkin faces, black and orange tapers, and Halloween candles decorated the dinner tables at the Los Laureles Lodge dining room for the October meeting of the Carmel Valley Lionettes, Mrs. George Glendenning, hostess for the affair, awarded the door prize to Mrs. John Koon and celebrated the birthday of Mrs. Kenneth Korver....."

TWO YEARS AGO:

"The Sewing Bee sponsored by the Carmel Valley Women's Club at the home of Mrs. Adolf Friedenthal was so enjoyable that a second one has been scheduled Nov. 9 at the Robinson Canyon home of Mrs. James Stewart. In addition to mending, replacing buttons, and creating gift items the group has decided to knit afghan squares to make lap robes for the amputees at the Veteran's hospitals....."

FOUR YEARS AGO:

"Mr. and Mrs. Michael Antoncich recently returned from Lafayette where they visited their son and daughter-in-law, Mickey and Pam, and their granddaughter, Camilla. While in Lafayette they also saw former Valley residents Bev and Klaus Meuller. Klaus is now a professor in the German Department of UC at Berkeley and they are just getting settled in their new house after last month's move from Sacramento."

Tassajara Springs closes 101st season

The 101st summer season at Tassajara since the hot springs were claimed by an enterprising man with a horse and two tents in 1868, ended the last day of September.

On Monday, October 13, the fall practice period of Zen Mountain Center at Tassajara Springs formally opened. This eight-week long period which ends December 8 following a seven-day sesshin, intensive week of meditation, is the fifth such period of Zen retreat held at Tassajara since Zen Mountain Center opened in July of 1967.

The 54 students now studying there under the guidance of Zen Master Shunryu Suzuki and his assistant Ryogen Yoshimura are led by senior student Jean Ross of Carmel.

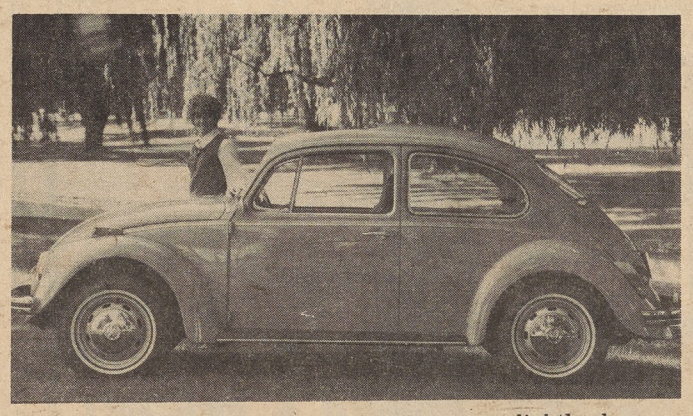
After a six-week interval for the Winter holidays, the Winter--Spring practice period will begin January 20 and last until the last week in April.

Due to the severe weather and road conditions during the winter months, there will be no guest facilities available, though the hot-springs baths will be open for day use from December 10 until January 15.

Prepare for 'Holiday Bazaar'

Mrs. Irving Ollason, chairman of the Nov. 8 Holiday Bazaar and her co-chairman Mrs. Larry Busick remind ladies that articles to be donated for sale will be accepted at the Fellowship Hall on Village Drive on Friday, Nov. 7 from 10 until 2.

Baked goods will be accepted on Saturday before 9:30 a.m. if possible.



VOLKSWAGEN'S 1970 sedan features a slightly larger engine which gives it greater response and more rapid acceleration in the lower ranges of its four-speed synchromesh transmission. All the new Volkswagens are now on display at Wester Motors on Del Monte Ave., Monterey.

Women Voters to hear pollution facts

Facts on the pollution of Monterey Bay by sewage and presticides will be presented to the League of Women Voters of the Monterey Peninsula, guests, and the interested public, Thursday at one o'clock in the Pacific Grove Community Center, Junipero at 14th Street.

Al Hart, Superintendent of the Monterey Sewage Plant; Walter Wong, Sanitarian of the County Health Department; and John Phillips, Director of the Hopkins Marine Station, will be guest speakers and will discuss with League members just how adequate present and projected treatment processes are, what State and County standards apply, and what can be done to reopen those beaches now closed.

Elected and appointed officials involved with the question of water quality have been invited to attend the League's meeting by Program Advisors Mrs. Robert Black and Mrs. William M. Moore.

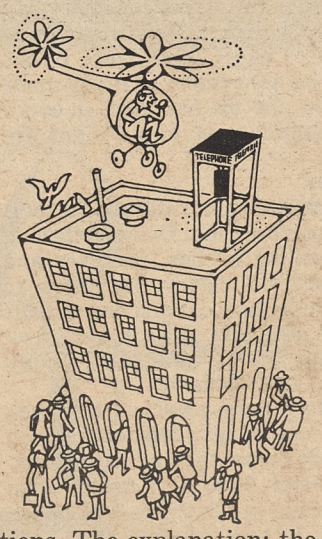
The October 23 program is the first of several dealing with the League's local study item, "Preservation of our Environment", chosen by the 250 member organization at its Annual Meeting last April 24. Other League studies include Administration of Justice, Housing, and Electorial College changes.

Persons wishing to attend the $2 buffet luncheon at noon are asked to make reservations by Monday, October 20, with Mrs. Kennedy White, 624-4538 or the League Office, 372-8312.

What's doing?

While most people who sell by telephone are considerate, once in awhile you'll find someone who rudely persists — even after you've told them politely that you're not interested in what they're selling. In such a case, my advice is to simply hang up. Of course, if the caller continues to bother you, be sure and contact your Business Office. We want your telephone to be a convenience.

This year Monterey is celebrating its bicentennial – the 200th anniversary of the founding of the first settlement in Monterey by the Spanish. In keeping with the celebration of this important first step in our history, official commemorative medallions have been struck from both bronze and silver. These distinctive medallions carry the bicentennial symbol, the facade of the Carmel Mission on the face, and figures symbolic of the city's history on the reverse side. They're available for purchase at banks, savings and loan associations and in our Monterey Business Office.



Pay phones are usually in busy places where they're convenient to the passerby. Places like hotel lobbies and main thoroughfares. So the spotlighted phone booth on the roof of a building was the source of much speculation. Among those whose curiosity was aroused by this "booth in the sky" was a helicopter-borne traffic reporter who began asking questions. The explanation: the building belongs to one of the companies that manufactures our phone booths—and while a roof top may be a novel location for one, it makes for some unusual conversation!

UNDER THE OAKS & AMONG THE CACTI

By Mildred Hattan

THE COLORFUL CHAPTER of Buccaneering was the October theme for Cub Scout Pack 76 which climaxed with a Pack Meeting Wednesday evening in the Tularcitos multipurpose room with 45 boys arriving in costume. Depicting every pirate from Captain Hook to Captain Kidd, their imaginative apparel recalled the swashbuckling days which dealt with the early history of our country and the growth of world trade.

A sampling of their subject which had been researched weekly at individual den meetings was presented. Songs taught and led by Mrs. John Anderson's Den 2; a skit, "Buccaneers in the Days of Old" starring Peter Sheperd as Blackbeard by Mrs. Leon Mink's Den 1; and Mrs. Ron Angle's Den 3 who sailed on stage in a ship flying the Jolly Roger with "golden Keys to kindness and bright sunshine" to unlock the treasure chest were preceded by a costume parade.

Cub Master, Don Draper, Sr. presented achievement awards to the following boys: Webelo's - Ron Lewis received awards for naturalist, aquanaut and athlete; Geoffrey Lee received a gold arrow point for his Bear badge, and awards for sportsman, aquanaut, and athlete; Jackie Willson received a gold arrow point for his Bear badge and an athlete award.

Bobcat awards were presented to two boys from Den 1: Robert Crewsell and Jeff Hogans.

Randy Angle of Den 3 had earned his Wolf Badge.

Two new Den mothers, Mrs. John Anderson and Mrs. Richard Bliss were welcomed to the Pack.

There is a desperate need for more adults to work in the Scout program. Anyone willing to assist is urgently asked to phone Mrs. Angle, 659-4408.

THE HAPPIEST OF REUNIONS took place last week at Travis Air Force Base when Mrs. Norman Friddle and Mrs. Mabel Love spotted their daughter and granddaughter and her family coming through customs. Jeananne and Bob Gorham were returning from a long tour of duty on Guam where they have been stationed with the Navy. Bob is to be discharged on the 25th and they plan to reside in the area. Accompanying the Gorhams were their two children; Cherie who left the states a tiny infant is now a sophisticated four year old and Eddie her 20-month-old brother is a charmer. The Gorhams drove to Pacifica where they are guests of Bob's mother until his discharge. Mrs. Love and Jean with sons, Mark and Mike, visited with friends on a ranch in Williams before returning to the Peninsula.

"SAINTS ON WHEELS" is the name selected by the high school youth group at St. Dunstan's Episcopal Church. The young people felt the name was most appropriate since they spend so much time on the Valley roads commuting to activities. Chris Hansen has been elected as their president and will serve with his sister, Tedde as vice president, Becky Brock as secretary and Craig Zenetta as treasurer. Twenty five of their members met last Sunday on the beach at the foot of Thirteenth Street in Carmel for a fall barbecue. Their calendars are filled with future plans. Next is a movie in Carmel as guests of the youth group at All Saints Episcopal Church; manning the soft drink booth at the Oktoberfest; and participating in the Ecumenical group party at the Church of the Wayfarer. Each youth group has been invited to come in the costume of a specific country and to contribute dishes for the dinner which would be found in the country which they are representing.

WHEN JACK RAUBER added a touch of glamour to his construction work on East Carmel Valley Road recently it was noted that traffic increased in the area 100 percent. A shortage of men one day to fill the position of flagmen put two well-known Valley ladies in hard hats with dazzling smiles and flags, they advanced traffic control at least 25 years.....! An enterprising Valley youngster, Anthony Grissom, son of the John Grissoms, noting the crowds at the Carmel Beach on a recent sunny Sunday went into the lemonade stand business and was seen later in a Carmel-by-the-Sea market replenishing supplies having already added a whopping $10.50 to his spending money.....Time is growing short for those Halloween costumes and with a bit of ingenuity and very little expense you will be able to outfit your entire band of Hobgoblins at the Community Chapel Thrift Shop. Bessie Waylett and Amy Mylar have an assortment of ready-made costumes at the top of the stairs and the materials in every department with which to assemble your own designs are endless.

MR. AND MRS. EMIL HANSEN have returned to their home on Pablo Place off Country Club Drive following several months in the east visiting friends, relatives and retracing the steps of our country's history. They flew to Orlando, Florida, where they picked up a car and drove to his sister's home in De Bary. Mr. and Mrs. John Claver took their California guests to many of the interesting places including Daytona Beach and Cape Kennedy.

Driving to Westfield, N.J. they were guests of their son Richard and his family before continuing to Montclair which had been their home for 20 years before moving to the west. Here they were guests of his sister, Mrs. Bert Aster, while seeing relatives and many friends in Glenwich and Beach Haven. On to Portland, Conn. to visit relatives and then Boxford, Mass., where they visited the summer home of Valleyites Mr. and Mrs. Paul Edwards of Laurel Drive, and together toured the historical places of nearby Boston.

Visiting friends in Cookstown, Penn., and Newark, Delaware, they made their way to Kemar, Maryland, where their daughter and family have purchased the 160-acre farm which was the birthplace of Francis Scott Key. Mr. and Mrs. Bill Pettijohn and four children resided for six years in the Jack Adobe of Monterey and are now having the exciting experience of living in the charming home of red brick with its white pillars and trim steeped in memories and early U.S. history. The Maryland Historical Society has placed many directional signs along the highways leading to the farm which is called "Terra-Ruba" which means "red soil." They have placed a monument on the grounds and Gerda and Emil watched from the windows of the Pettijohn's home as entire families crossed the lawns to pay homage to the composer of our national anthem.

A portion of the roof blew off several years ago, but the home was reconstructed with all the old materials and the cellar is just as it was during Key's boyhood in Carroll county. There are eleven barns on the property also of the picturesque red brick with the white trim, and a spot is pointed out to visitors where George Washington once spoke. The Hansens visited nearby Gettysburg and listened as Bill, whose great grandfather who was wounded at Antietam, had related his Civil War experiences to Bill's father, who relayed them to Bill, now retold his children of the battles between the Union and Confederate Forces.

ST. DUNSTAN'S Episcopal Church nestled in the believable Wagnerian setting of Robinson Canyon will lend itself nicely to the Oktoberfest sponsored on Saturday by the members of the Parish. BICENTENNIAL PLACE MATS and fall colors set the theme for the Chapel Guild benefit bridge and canasta party held Wednesday at the Fellowship Hall. Forty ladies were welcomed by the hostesses, Mrs. Helen Fitch, Mrs. Rosa Clark and Mrs. Elsie Siemens.

Due to the illness of Helen's mother, Mrs. Mabel Martin, Helen's daughter, Sharee Trebas and her daughter-in-law, Linda Martin Fitch, stepped in to assist with the afternoon's arrangements.

French petites were served during the dessert hour, a treat which the ladies will no doubt prepare for their families in the near future since the recipe appears in the new edition of the Valley Fare Cook Book.

Table decor and prizes were furnished by Sharee's Gift Shoppe. Table prizes in bridge (a pair of hand-carved candles from Holland) were won by Mmes. Lorraine Bolton, Salinas; Mathew Little, Sacramento; Irma Bolgard, Alice Harwood and Marjorie McKiernon.

Table prizes were won in Canasta by Jenny Clark, Vera Meyers, Vera Stokes and Jane Korver. Ruth Wade won a first in bridge, the second place honors went to Barbara Robbins. Mary Stickney won a first in canasta and Mike Cecka placed second.

The Patio Pete's made by Marjorie McKiernon and her committee for the November 8 Holiday Bazaar were once again sold out with more orders placed for that extra one for gift-giving.

This was the final party of 1969. With the Bazaar and Thanksgiving on the calendar for November, and December busy with Christmas plans, the parties will resume again in January with Mrs. Mary Stickney the hostess. Ladies who enjoy cards and wish to be added to the telephone list called monthly for reservations are invited to phone Helen Fitch, 659-4207 for bridge or Vera Stokes, 659-4286 - canasta chairman.

MR. AND MRS. BERTRAM L. HECKENLAIBLE have had a continuing Open House for their many friends who were delighted to share their happiness upon the completion of their lovely new home on Flight Road. In a setting of oaks, mimosa and silk trees their dream has become a reality and an ideal background for their many treasures collected over the years. So many personal touches.....bathroom basins hand-painted with a moss rose design under glaze.....a charming enameled Swedish fireplace in the dinette which opens onto a deck forming a spacious outdoor living area with its view of Robles.....warm paneled walls in the living room offering a perfect background for a painting of Yucca by the late Laura Maxwell.....a study with an unsurpassed view of the Valley decorated with Indian artifacts and Mr. Heckenlaible's collection of elephants.....and everywhere colors as friendly and inviting as the couple themselves.

To date their guest book has entries beginning on Sept. 14 when Mr. Hekenlaible's half-brother arrived from Auburn, Washington, and was guest of honor at a dinner attended by their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Heckenlaible and son, Mark of Fresno, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Naslund and Mrs. Virena Franklin. On September 30 they entertained Florence and Carl Naslund's houseguests from Stephenson, Michigan, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph La Comb, who are Carl's sister and husband. Also present at the dinner party were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lauritson, Mrs. Russell Sprague, and Mrs. J.B. Franklin.

A cocktail buffet gave former neighbors and friends from Seaside and the Peninsula an opportunity to tour their new home. Their buffet table centered with a large mixed bouquet which perfectly matched the colors of their quilted chintz couch was the gift of Mr. and Mrs. John Pattullo. Others attending were Messrs. and Mmes. Lee Mills, Claude Berquist, Edward Durel, Emil Schmidt, A. Lindsey, Lawrence Tinsley, Harold Apger, Pat Hanly, Ray Menes, Hartmoon Paik, Carl Naslund, Joseph Ferranti, Robert Ewing, Jim Cecka and Mr. and Mrs. Peter Heckenlaible and son Mark. Also Mmes. Annie Medina, Betty Atwood, Ruth Titus, Virena Franklin, Kei Nakimura, Phillip Walker, and Jean Darby and son, Eric. Also Dr. and Mrs. William Forestelle, Dr. and Mrs. Gordon Hambrook (their home is in Alta Ville), John Pattullo II, Miss Micky Gomez and Arthur Franklin.

Mr. Franklin who is the son of Mrs. Virena Franklin and brother of Mrs. Heckenlaible and Mrs. Naslund, flew down from his home in Sitka, Alaska for the party. During his stay he was the guest of honor at a dinner party attended by Mrs. Irene Baldwin, Mrs. Ruth Titus, the Naslunds and his mother, Mrs. Franklin.

An informal gathering for Valley friends was held on September 25 for Mmes. Pat Swan, Joan Bennett, Pat Richerts, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Capen, Miss Joellen Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Getz and Mrs. George Willis. Attending a Koffee were Mrs. Henrietta Parsell, Mrs. Howard Davis, Mrs. Marghiko Romogonolo and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Love and their daughter, Patti.

Last week friends from the Community Chapel were feted by the Hekenlaibles at a dessert. Vera turned a perfectly gorgeous turban squash into an unusual centerpiece and filled it with fall toned mums for her table. Enjoying seeing the completed home were Mrs. Mabel Love, Mrs. Stella Miller, Miss Esther Trevino, Cmdr. (ret.) Elmira Davis, Miss B. Lawson Miller, Walter Patton Sr., Rev. and Mrs. Don Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. William Lowther, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Bolgard, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Naslund and Mrs. J.B. Franklin. The latter a young 91 years old dearly loves parties and has thoroughly enjoyed the last few weeks with all the excitement next door with her new neighbors, Vera and Bert.

BAKERY IN VILLAGE has now re-opened, operated by Manual Freedman (center) and Ron Wellman. Jennifer Prongos, left, assists in the Magic Hearth Bakery in Bernadelli Square.

Bakery reopens in Village; features specialities

The bakery in Bernadelli Square has reopened. Its new name is Magic Hearth, Whole Earth Breads. Ron Wellman and Manuel Freedman, the owners, are baking a new kind of bread.

Manuel, "The Master Baker," developed Balanced Breads, a macrobiotic line made in San Francisco. He is also a consultant for organic baking and has taught natural foods baking to several communes in the San Francisco Bay Area.

In the new bread, they use organic wholewheat, raised in Deaf Smith County, Texas without DDT or other harmful chemicals. It carries the highest protein count and largest percentages of all vital nutrients of any wheat grown in the United States and possibly the whole world. Its reddish colour and hearty taste are unsurpassed for the creation of superior sandwich, toasting and dinner breads.

"This bread has never been seen before," Ron said. "We use simple ingredients and simple methods."

Magic Hearth introduces to Carmel Valley: Magic Spider Bread, unleavened, primitive style loaves -- made with flour, sesame seeds and water. These superb little loaves are baked by combining ancient stoneground handmade methods with modern electrical equipment.

In the future, with no definite date in mind, Manuel will be developing sourdough rye, French and English muffins, as well as the world's first natural foods bagel. Ron, meantime, is preparing a line of "living foods" products: sprouts, yogurt and cheese.

Magic Hearth also offers pies: at the moment, Organic Apple, sweetened only with cinnamon and raisins, enclosed in a simple wholewheat crust, non-fattening for they contain no white refined sugar, animal fats, shortening or additives.

A unique line of wholemeal cookies is being presented along with the incredibly -- but naturally -- sweet Carob Fudge, made with organic walnuts, dates, raisins, prunes and cinnamon. Carob, known also as St. John's Bread, is a sub-tropical fruit that, when dried and powdered, tastes like Dutch chocolate. Highly nutritious, beneficial in the aide of diarhhea, it will not harm complexion nor cause tooth decay nor make one fat. The purest of vegetable oils is used in all baking. Manuel makes his own baking powder from an ancient recipe calling for three simple ingredients.

So that we might tell you first-hand how really good this bread tastes, Ron brought a loaf to the Outlook staff. And it is very tasty.

The exact ingredients are: Organic Wholewheat Flour, Organic Date Sugar (made from granulated dates), sea-salt, pure well water, soya oil and yeast.

Blood Bank Credit Clubs in Carmel Valley

Donating blood to the Red Cross is insurance for you and your family throughout the year. Anyone donating one pint of blood receives a credit card entitling him, his spouse, minor children, parents, parents-in-law, grandparents, and grandparents-in-law to unlimited blood for one year.

Group coverage is available through Credit Clubs. There are five clubs in Carmel Valley: the Fire-House, Carmel Valley Community Chapel, Carmel Valley Manor, Kiwanis Club, and St. Dunstan's Episcopal Church. If 20 percent of the group donates during the year, the entire group and their families as listed above are eligible for all the blood they need during the year.

Through the National Red Cross Reciprocity System -- which includes agreements with 56 Regional Red Cross Centers, the Canadian Red Cross, and the American Association of Blood Banks -- Red Cross will provide blood for those having credit. This credit is available in the United States, Canada, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

When you join a group, your group blood chairman will advise you of the benefits and requirements. If you participate as an individual, call The Red Cross Chapter (394-6711 day or night) for information regarding coverage.

Family night at Community Church

A pot luck - land fund raising dinner will be held at the Community Church of the Monterey Peninsula on October 29 at 6:00 p.m. James Pruitt is chairman of the event. Following dinner Miss Ann Hazen will show her slides of Norway. Miss Hazen's first trip to Norway was in 1937. She was charmed with the country and people, but was unable to return again until 1956. Since then she has been in Norway six times, and has taken many pictures on each trip. This showing is a compilation of the best and most interesting slides. Miss Hazen is an expert photographer, and commentator of rare and unusual ability. The music recorded on tape adds to the interest and enjoyment of the pictures. Miss Hazen returns from an African Safari on October 28.

ADVISORY COMMITTEE TO MEET

A meeting of the Upper Valley Advisory Committee will be held Friday morning at 8:30 at Community Center. Two use permits will be reviewed for approval: the Oleander Garden Shop, requested by Salih Mehdy; and the Joan Baez School for Nonviolence building, requested by SUBUD of California, Inc., a religious and philosophic group.

400 AT 'NITE-CAP' RALLY . . .

HERB JEPCO BROADCASTS FROM CARMEL VALLEY

Last Friday night, the Carmel Valley Inn was the exciting scene of the Herb Jepco NITE-CAP broadcast. Heard over KSL in Salt Lake City and KVO in Tulsa, the broadcast covers 39 states. At station breaks, Herb says, "This is the Nite-Cap radio network."

About 400 people attended the rally here in Carmel Valley. The affair began on Friday afternoon with registration, a buffet at 7:00 p.m., and the broadcast followed from 10:00 to 12:00 midnight.

The club's monthly publication is WICK. In the second half of the broadcast, Herb told his audience, "We named the magazine WICK, because every candle has a wick. If you can light one candle of hope for someone who's depressed, you've helped. This is part of our philosophy. Pat and I just happen to believe we are here on earth for a purpose -- and this is part of it."

Herb Jepco appears very young. A rather small wiry man, he has a folksy manner and anecdotal style which obviously inspires a great camaraderie with his listeners. He went on to say, "We have fun and get to know each other. We're not as intellectual as some programs, perhaps.....We live in America, thank God we live in America. I don't feel qualified to talk about whether or not we should be in Vietnam, and other political issues. This is not a political or religious organization. You can believe what you want, and I can believe what I want. We have other things in common.....I try to hold the candle for you, when you call in at night."

Ordinarily, the show is on from midnight to dawn. The time-difference between states meant that the broadcast began early here in California. This is the fourth rally held at the Carmel Valley Inn.

When the show first went on the air in Tulsa, Herb said, "This is going to be a long association, I hope, with the Harrisons here at the Carmel Valley Inn."

John Harrison then welcomed the group and wished them luck.

Marian Fischer, who made all arrangements for the local rally, was introduced by Jepco. "A real sweet girl to us," he said. "And she's had a lot of tragedy in her life this past week -- yet she's carried through."

The wife of Lieutenant Bob Fischer of the Carmel Police Force, Marian has been a Nite-Cap for a number of years and is very active. In turn, she thanked "a little Scottish gal running around her by the name of Graeme -- that's Mrs. Harrison, who's done a lot of work getting things ready for us."

After thanking various other local people, Marian introduced John Logan, president of the Monterey Bicentennial Celebration.

Mr. Logan welcomed the group and told them about the festivities coming up in a few months. "We will celebrate our 200th anniversary.....There will be an old-fashioned golf tournament -- in costume.....An old Mexican village is being built in downtown Monterey -- two blocks on Alvarado. The celebration will take place from May through October. On December 8, we'll have the kickoff, which will be a re-enactment of Father Serra's arrival.....We go on to many more events. There's something in the Monterey Bicentennial for everyone."

Later in the program, Sam Brandt was introduced by Herb. Mr. Brandt told about the impromptu visit of the Postmaster General a couple of months ago. "If you don't think that shakes everyone up," he said. "We put people to work who need a job. We have new people sorting mail -- they sort by zip code number. So don't forget to put it on." This was said tongue-in-cheek, of course, but Herb emphasized zip codes for the balance of the evening.

Throughout the evening, before and during the broadcast, entertainment was provided by local musicians. Deanne McKinney, young mother of four and wife of a Salinas policeman, sang a lovely folk song. The "Sweet Adelines" from Salinas harmonized several selections -- barbershop quartet type things. And Sister St. Christopher sang several folk songs in a beautiful clear soprano. After an encore of "Danny Boy," Herb commented, "You'd better watch out, Sister, or some record company's going to gobble you up."

"The Notions," a group of musicians from San Jose, played very good country western after the show.

The hundreds of fans were in a state of high anticipation early in the evening, while they enjoyed the elaborate buffet dinner. Their excitement spilled over with thunderous applause as Herb Jepco went on the air. And after the show, they eagerly clustered about waiting to shake his hand and have a word with him.

Pat Jepco was at her husband's side. Pretty and plausible in her role, she added a remark now and then.

When we joined the crowd up front, I found Pat petite and sparkling. But her husband, at close range, looked haggard and exhausted. Someone said he'd gone 40 hours without sleep.

Many people traveled great distances to attend the rally. Ray Duford came from Edmonton, Alberta, Canada. Leaving there by car on Tuesday afternoon, he arrived here after 6:00 p.m. on Friday. He presented the Jepcos with beautiful gray parkas trimmed with silver-fox collars.

Sitting at our table were Mrs. Mignon Morrison and Mrs. Ester Bernstein who'd driven down from Sunnyvale. Also, Mr. and Mrs. Brown from near Fresno,Mrs. Mary Uphouse and her daughter, Mrs. Mary Bosley, all the way from Nebraska. And Helyn and George Santos of Hughson, California.

"We will not be on the air all night," Herb told his radio listeners. "Because I'd get tired and those who are here would get tired, and we have a very full weekend."

On Saturday, the group toured the Monterey Peninsula. That night, they attended a banquet given in honor of Herb.

In November, the Nite-Caps will go to Hawaii, in February to Australia, and to Canada in July. Members in attendance at the rally appeared to be solid middle-class citizens, loyal to Herb. His show fills a need for them in the lonely hours of the night.

ARTIST-DESIGNED PUMPKINS will be on display and for sale at the "Autorama" at the Monterey Fairgrounds, Oct. 24, 25 and 26. Artists Howard Bradfort (shown), Sam Colburn, Dick Crispo, Pat Carey, Steve & Marilyn Brown and Naomi Reddert had a "Pumpkin Cut-in" to prepare for the event, which will have an Oktoberfest theme and a chance to see 84 new 1970 "Autumn-mobiles" displayed by 15 Monterey dealers in American and European cars.

BY MRS. B.C. FORRESTER

For many hundreds of years November 1 has been observed as All Saints' Day, and the eve of that day is observed as All Souls' Eve, or All Hallowed E'en, or again as the children say in our era, "Hallowe'en." It remains a religious holiday in many places in Europe even in 1970. For instance in villages in the Vosges mountains good Christians are invited by the solumn sound of church bells to pray for the repose of the souls of the dead. While the bells are ringing it remains the custom of some families to turn back the bed covers and open windows to let the restless dead enter and rest. In certain towns in Belgium, holy candles burn all night on All Soul's Even, and the bells toll until midnight or even until the morning of November 1. Also, families often set lighted candles on the graves. In Scherpenheurel the houses are all illuminated and the residents walk in procession carrying lighted candles. A very common custom is to eat "soul cakes" or "soul bread" on the eve of All Saints.

In southern Bavaria on the "Hallowed E'en" people visit the graves and offer "soul cakes" to the hungry souls. The following day being All Saint's Day begins with a service in the church and every household offers a plate of meal, oats and spelt on a side altar, while a bier is set, covered with a pall, in the building, surrounded by lighted tapers.

All these customs are of course indicative of the survival of a deep rooted conviction of the human race that the dead do return and though unseen occupy themselves with family affairs.

We know how far away from these customs is the celebration of "Hallow E'en" in the United States today. It is a playday for children, who childlike enjoy "being scarey" and dress up in masks and sheets and frighten each other. A more tepid expression is to go from house to house begging sweets or fruits. Parents usually accompany their youngsters on these forays and thus rob them of any real fears a pumpkin-headed sheet might inspire.

Hallowe'en party tables can be things of beauty with pumpkins, orange candles and black witches and cats, so if you do not have a recipe for bright orange colored pumpkin preserves, I'll give you one.:

PUMPKIN PRESERVES

Pare pumpkin. Cut into thin slices. Weigh slices. Let slices remain in lemon juice overnight (3 lemons to a pound of pumpkin). Make syrup of pound for pound of sugar. Boil pumpkin slices in syrup until they begin to look clear. Drain, saving syrup. Return slices again to syrup and boil till quite clear. The rind of a sweet orange, scalded and added to the syrup and pumpkin slices improves the taste.

Remove to glass bowl and refrigerate until used.

PUMPKIN PIE

2 cups cooked and sieved pumpkin
1 cup brown sugar
¼ tsp salt
1 tbsp flour
1 cup milk
1 cup cream
3 beaten eggs
1 tsp ginger
1 tsp powdered cloves
1 tsp nutmeg
1 tsp all spice

Mix and pour into a 9" single-crust pie. Make edges high. Bake at 425 degrees for 15 minutes, and at 350 degrees for 20 minutes, or until a knife comes out clean. It helps to add ½ tsp of cinnamon to the crust dough.

And here is an easily made hurry up candy:

COCOA PEANUT BUTTER BALLS

2 cups moist shredded cocoanut
½ tsp peanut butter
4 tsp vanilla flavoring

Combine all ingredients thoroughly. Shape into small balls, then chill in refrigerator. Makes about ¼ pound.

Over 100 volunteer blood

When the Bloodmobile visited Carmel Valley last week, there were 102 volunteer donors, according to Mrs. Marjorie McKiernon, blood recruitment chairman for the Red Cross here.

Among them, two received 2 gallon pins. They are Jeanne Klech and Anthony Steliga. And four reached the one gallon level, and also received pins; they were Evelyn Rhoades, Sal Ocampo, Mary Ann Yuma and Judith Gayman.

The response was wonderful, Mrs. McKiernon said, and thanked not only the volunteer donors but also the many others who donated of their time in the project.

Others who volunteered blood include the following:

So you love your dog . . .

BY JUDITH ADEST

Most of us take our everyday surroundings for granted. We expect our living rooms and bedrooms and kitchens to look a certain way and, after a number of years, we tend to stop looking at them; we accept them. Unfortunately, we also tend to carry over this behavior to members of our families, human and non-human alike. Once a new puppy or kitten ceases to be a novelty and becomes a full-fledged member of the family, we stop looking at him. We know he's there; we feed him conscientiously; we pat him absent-mindedly; but we examine him rarely. And that is a mistake.

We have made it a habit, for so many years, to critically examine our animals all the time, that we do it unconsciously now. That doesn't mean that we put them on a table and "go over" them head to toe every day. What it does mean is that when a dog or cat comes over to us, we automatically look him over as we reach to pet him. We check his eyes for discharge, notice the condition of his coat, appraise his weight, glance at his feet. And, as our fingers scratch gently behind his ears or run along his sides, we search for something that shouldn't be there. We don't necessarily expect to find anything, but we're alert for the unexpected.

Many of the annoying problems that beset dog and cat owners could be caught early and treated more easily if pet owners would learn to look at their pets. If you have the habit of running your hand the wrong way down the coat of your dog (and grooming regularly), you're far more apt to spot the first signs of skin troubles -- before it gets out of hand so that it can't be missed -- and your veterinarian has difficulty arresting it.

If your dog comes in limping, stop, then and there, and examine his feet. Has he picked up a burr? Has he cut his foot? Is there swelling? It's certainly a great deal easier to remove the thorn and wash and cleanse the cut right then and there than let it fester and develop into serious trouble. And it's better for everyone concerned for your exploring fingers to find a tick lodged behind your dog's ear and remove it before it engorges.

If you discover a small lump or growth, get your dog to the vet immediately. Often, prompt treatment is all-important. And, while you're petting, if you discover that you suddenly can't feel your dog's ribs and that he's looking a wee bit paunchy, decrease his feedings slightly that very night. Don't let him get really fat and develop kidney or respiratory problems before you let the vet tell you to put him on a diet.

Look at your pets. Learn to notice the out-of-ordinary immediately. Check into it. If you feel it requires professional attention, your veterinarian is your pet's best friend. If it's something minor and you can attend to it yourself, you'll be able to help your dog or cat avoid possible complications. It's just one way of returning the love you receive every day.

Postgraduate School plans open house for Navy Day

Navy Day 1969 will be observed by the Naval Postgraduate School in Monterey with Open House from 1 to 4:30 p.m. on Saturday.

"U.S.Navy: Oceanic Leadership - Opportunities Unlimited" is the theme for this year's observance. The Postgraduate School will stress its contributions to this theme - education for officers in science, technology and management.

THINGS ARE HAPPENING AT.....

DEL MONTE CENTER

Del Monte Center merchants celebrate second anniversary

"Things Are Happening At Del Monte Center" is the theme of the second anniversary celebration by the merchants of Del Monte Center which continues through November 1st. A series of special activities every day plus exciting values offered by the merchants makes this event a "must" for every Peninsula shopper.

Some of the special activities planned are: a performance on Thursday, Oct. 23, by the Green Gold Valley Chapter of the Sweet Adelines. The ladies will serenade shoppers with their harmonious renditions of old-time favorites.

On Friday, Oct. 24, Kim and Ted Eagan will perform their feats of acrobatics on the shopping center mall. The outstanding athletes are products of local schools.

A series of fashion shows in various shopping center stores will be held on Saturday. Models will parade the latest in California fashions for the approval of shoppers.

Square dancing sponsored by the Monterey Bay Area Callers Association will be featured on the mall on Monday, Oct. 27. The public is invited to participate in this fun-filled event and appropriate clothing is suggested.

Other special activities scheduled are an appearance by balloon sculptor Lou Berton; antic performances by Buffo the Clown; judo demonstrations; musical performances, and other diversions.

Del Monte Center is by far the largest shopping center on the Peninsula. Called a "new concept in shopping centers", the huge complex contains over 400,000 square feet, with ample parking facilities to handle the largest crowds.

When the shopper enters, she is surrounded by beauty.....colorful flowers by the thousands, magnificent old oak trees and the traditional charm of historic Monterey captured in adobe buildings. Noticeably absent are glaring lights, neon signs and other aspects of over-commercialization which blight many other shopping areas around the nation.

With more than 70 stores, the shopper is assured of finding that she is looking for.....from dining to shopping for shoes (there are six--count them, six shoe stores, for men, women and children), banking to investing, entertainment to beauty and barber shops, Del Monte Center has it. You'll delight in the International Mall, Macy's and a host of other famous retail and service-oriented stores.

There is always something happening at Del Monte Center, too. You will often encounter strolling musicians, art festivals, fashion shows.

U.N. CELEBRATION AT CUSTOM HOUSE PLAZA SUNDAY

Colorful international dress will be much in evidence at the Custom House Plaza in Monterey on Sunday afternoon, Oct. 26 at 2 p.m.

International students from the Defense Language Institute, The Naval Postgraduate School, the Monterey Institute of Foreign Studies and Monterey Peninsula College will be among those invited by the United Nations Association of the Monterey Peninsula to join in the celebration.

A short program of guitar and bongo music, and testimony by students of the work of the U.N. in their native countries, will be presented, under the chairmanship of Maj. James Taylor, vice-president of the U.N. association.

The public is invited to attend, wearing foreign dress wherever possible.

Recreation football leagues organized at Tularcitos

Fight Falcons! Go Key Jets! Score Raiders!

On Saturday, Flag Football arrived at Tularcitos School. Footballs were seen spiralling through the air, fleet-footed backs sprinting through tenacious defenses to score, and sure-handed pass receivers snagging pigskins for long gains.

Students, comprised of grades 3 through 6, from Tularcitos School formed two football leagues of 4 teams each. Each team plays every other team twice in their conference in a round robin tournament.

All league games will be played every Saturday through November 22. Practice sessions are held on Tuesday and Thursday at 3:30 at Tularcitos School. All teams are required to be on the field 20 minutes before game time on Saturdays. Games will be played at 9:00 a.m. and 10:00 a.m.

The Football Leagues are the rudimentary beginnings of a proposed recreational program which will have a wide spectrum of activities. The success or failure of the community recreational program will depend on the participation, support and enthusiasm of the community.

EXCITEMENT AT OPENING FLAG FOOTBALL GAMES

The opening rounds of the Carmel Valley Flag Football Leagues were played last Saturday morning at Tularcitos School. There were numerous outstanding plays made both on offense and defense.

Teams in both the Big Ten conferences and All Americans saw action. The 9:00 a.m. game had the Raiders, captained by Lee Gayman, pitted against RickyPalmer'sNo Names. Danny Azcarte and Erik Hubert, two fleetfooted backs, scored three touchdowns apiece as the Raiders routed the No Names 37-0. One bright spot for the No Names were Tim Nielsen's outstanding defensive plays.

In the All American conference, the Dirty Devils triumphed over the Falcons 13-7. Rogan Hattan was instrumental in the Dirty Devils win as he scored two touchdowns.

The longest fun of the day was chalked up by Richard Ferris of the Fighting Irish when he galloped 58 yards for a touchdown against the Trojans. But the Trojans were able to gain a victory in the final seconds when Captain Ian Craig hit Ed Canadas with a 15 yard pass. Canadas took the aerial and ran 30 yards for the winning touchdown. The final score was Trojans 14, Fighting Irish 12.

The Kindergarten Keydets and the Kindergarten Killers played to a 24-24 tie. Mike Saunders had several long runs and 4 touchdowns as he turned in an oustanding performance for the Killers.

CVCYC starts fall activities

The Carmel Valley Community Youth Center has completed its annual fund raising drive and is now organized to start youth recreation activities.

The CVCYC has also met with officials in the School District and has received permission to use the playground facilties of Tularcitos School. Eventually, the multipurpose room and other facilities may be used by the CVCYC for week-end youth activities.

NEW PART-TIME DIRECTOR

The CVCYC has hired Mr. Tim Stephens as their part-time director. Tim has been teaching at elementary schools for 6 years and just recently joined the Staff at Tularcitos. Before coming to Tularcitos, Tim taught at Garden Grove in Southern California. Tim received his Bachelors Degree in Physical Education from the University of Santa Barbara. He received his Masters Degree in Education from USC. Tim will be coordinating activities at the CVCYC facilities and also at the Tularcitos School playground on a part-time basis. Tim is also now looking for two part-time assistant directors - male and female - preferably over 18 years old. Anyone interested can contact Tim during the day at 659-2064 or in the evenings at 659-2929.

FLAG FOOTBALL

The first activity to be started this fall is a Saturday morning flag football league for Tularcitos boys in grades three thru six. This activity is an extension of the after school program but is sponsored by the CVCYC on Saturday mornings, under the direction of the CVCYC director. Mr. Reuter supervises the afterschool program and will be helping Mr. Stephens on Saturday morning. The flag football has already started and there are eight teams.

SATURDAY MOVIES

The Saturday movies are scheduled to start again on November 15, at 2:00 p.m. and every Saturday thereafter during the winter months. There will be just one showing at 2:00 p.m. and the admission price will remain at thirty-five cents (35c). Present plans call for the snack bar to be open with soft drinks and candy for sale.

OTHER ACTIVITIES

Flag football and the Saturday movies are just the beginning of what is hoped to be a much improved CVCYC program. The following are some of the many questions that have been recently asked about the CVCYC and the answers, per Director Tim Stephens.

1. "Now that you have started football for Tularcitos boys -- what are you going to do for the girls?"

Ans. -- Within the next few weeks a Saturday recreation program will be announced for Tularcitos girls in grades three thru six.

2. "What programs are you planning for other age groups?"

Ans. - We are starting with grades three thru six but definitely plan to have additional programs for other age groups. Next week a questionnaire will be distributed to the community in order that we can determine in which kinds of activities there is the most interest.

3. "Is the Tularcitos playground now open for general recreation on Saturdays?"

Ans. - Yes. Initially, we are planning to have a CVCYC director on the playground every Saturday morning (except when raining) between 9:00 a.m. and noon. Recreation equipment will be available during those hours for check-out, i.e., basketballs, footballs, volleyballs, and tennis equipment. The Saturday morning open recreation is for all Valley youth no matter where they go to school or what their age.

4. "When are you going to start a teen-age club and Friday or Saturday night dances?"

Ans. - No definite plans at this time, but it is hoped that some teen-age activities will start after the first of the year. A lot will depend on the results of the community questionnaire, since, we need to determine how much interest there is in a teen club and weekend dances.

COMMUNITY QUESTIONNAIRE

Next week a questionnaire will be distributed to the Carmel Valley Community which will attempt to determine the amount of interest in youth programs and provide a guide for priority. The questionnaire will provide the community a means of telling the CVCYC what they want in terms of youth programs. The CVCYC has definite budget limitations and must endeavor to initiate programs that are the most popular and will receive the most support -- including support from the parents.

Murder mystery opens at Circle Halloween eve

"Someone Waiting", a psychological murder thriller, has been set to open on Halloween night, October 31, at the Circle Theatre, as the second attraction of the 1969-70 Community Theatre season. In this blood-curdling suspense filled play, author Emlyn Williams creates one of his most unique character studies.

In "Someone Waiting", playwright Williams in a series of terrifying episodes, develops a web of concentrated tension, spun with the thread of murderous revenge and weaves it into one of the most ingenious cases in the annals of crime. The audience will watch in fascinated horror as the cunning devices of an elaborately planned scheme of entrapment are unfolded.

"Someone Waiting" won tremendous popularity in London before it was produced in the United States. It concerns the efforts of a dedicated father to track down a murderer and administer a terrible revenge. His avenging path leads him into the scene of the crime, a guilt-ridden household where someone is a murderer and someone is waiting to become one.

Emlyn Williams has devised a solution to the dilema so shocking, so heroic, so eminently satisfying that it has left audiences both here and abroad gasping with incredulity at its effectiveness.

Michael Keller, who was just voted the Best Director of the Year for his production of "The Lion In Winter", will again be sitting in the director's chair. An outstanding cast of Golden Bough Award winners is featured, including Gertrude Chappell, Roy Baxter, Bob Lotz, Betty Fowlston, Jean McBride, James Sweeney and Ruth Fry.

After its opening on Halloween, "Someone Waiting" will play weekends Fridays and Saturdays at 8:30 and Sundays at 7:30. Reservations and group discount bookings are now available by calling the theatre box office at 624-2669. The Community Theatre will once again make available the special $1.00 discount ticket for students and enlisted military, who present a bona fide I.D. card at the box office. General admission is $2.50.

MONTEREY PENINSULA MUSEUM OF ART . . .

EXPANSIVE NEW QUARTERS, ENLARGED PROGRAM

The Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art Association has moved its gallery from Carmel to the former County Court House Annex at 559 Pacific Street, Monterey. The gallery will reopen December 5th.

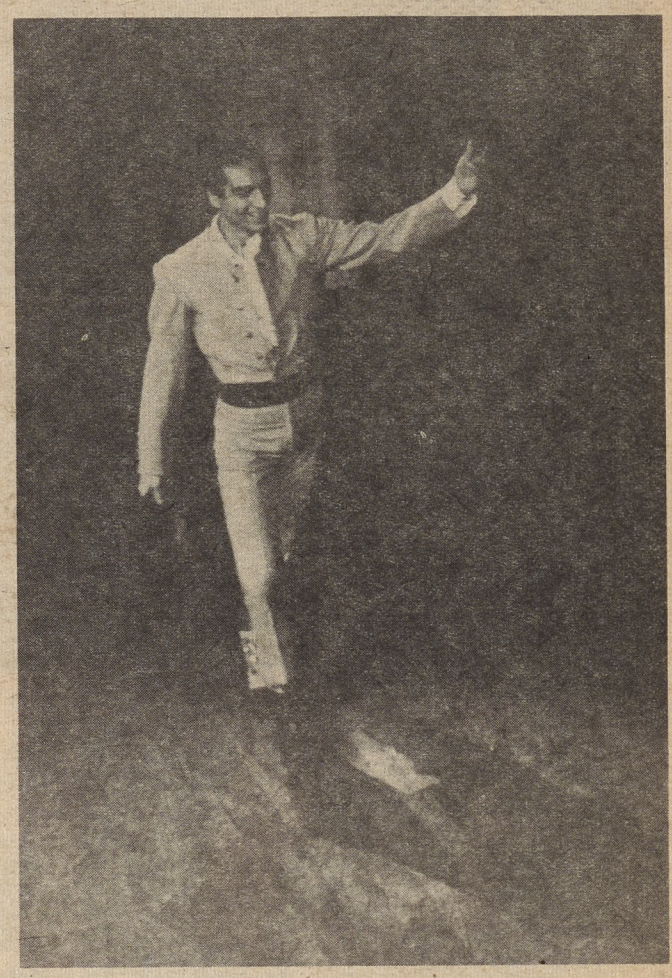
The Museum thus steps up from a one room facility to two full floors of a large building with space for multiple galleries, a library, a workshop and classroom area. The new location is one of the most ideal in Monterey, since it is across from 100 year old Colton Hall with its beautiful gardens, the Larkin House Museum is nearby, and adjoining is the delightful Francis Elkins Park.

The architecture of the new quarters is Spanish in character, with grille work and a tile roof. The Museum of Art will occupy the upper two floors and on the lower floor the Allen Knight Maritime Collection will be displayed, under the jurisdiction of the Monterey History & Art Association.

The city of Monterey has purchased this property from the County and is making it available for museum space to the two organizations on a ten year lease basis, with option to renew at the end of that time.

Association members are involved now in the extensive job of remodeling, painting and lighting to prepare for the December opening. An exhibit of the famous watercolorist, Dong Kingman will be shown for the first time on the Monterey Peninsula, opening December 10.

Members and friends of the Museum Association are preparing for this year's "Festival of the Trees" -- which will replace the former event called "Christmas Creations". Workshops have been in progress at the new headquarters, to prepare materials for the "Festival of the Trees" event. If you would like to help in this Christmas Project, phone Mrs. Chasnoff at 624-4260 for information.



JOSE GRECO, often described as "the world's finest male Spanish dancer," will present a lecture-demonstration of Flamenco and Spanish regional dances at Monterey Peninsula College Saturday, October 25. Accompanied by his prima ballerina and lead guitarist, Greco will begin his program at 8:30 p.m. in the MPC gymnasium.

Dr. David Epel speaks at Kiwanis

"Sea Life in the Year 2001" was the topic of Dr. David Epel's talk before the Kiwanis Club at their meeting last week. A marine biologist at Hopkins Marine Station, Dr. Epel used a humorous approach to his serious subject. He referred to a cartoon, depicting the evolution of man from an amoeba, progressing through the various forms of life to man as he is today -- and then returning to his previous state, via skin-diving.

In discussing the resources of the ocean, Dr. Epel told the group that, biologically, life is divided into 24 phylums or classes of organisms -- 14, or over half, of which are found in the ocean. When the sardines are running, he said, the Port of Monterey was the largest source of this sea-food in the world. Today, however, the heaviest tonnage is produced on the coasts of Peru and Ecuador.

Experiments in raising marine-life for food are being carried on throughout the world, the speaker said. In Japan, they are "farming" shellfish and shrimp. Kelp is also harvested for both chemicals and food. The acids from kelp are being used in the manufacture of ice cream, cosmetics, and other products. According to Dr. Epel, some of the chemicals produced from sponges are used in antibiotics.

In closing, Dr. Epel pointed out that, even though mineral resources of the ocean are vast, the production costs are often prohibitive. He also touched on the subject of pollution, which is becoming a primary topic for speculation on the Peninsula.

Because of the resignation of Ralph Updike as 2nd Vice-President, a special election was held. Al Holine was elected to replace Mr. Updike in this office. In turn, Raz Belleci was elected to replace Mr. Holine as Director.

Harold Fly's comment for the day at the end of the bulletin states: "Too often a word to the wise is just enough to start an argument." His thought for the day is: "Habit is a cable; we weave a thread of it every day, and at last we cannot break it."

WARNING ON USE OF FIREARMS

There were no fires in the Valley this past week, but Chief "Chip" Collins and Captain Don Laird have a couple of important announcements to make to Valley residents:

First of all, Captain Laird says that the discharge of firearms within the Carmel Valley Fire District is illegal. County Ordinance No. 984 states implicitly that fire-arms are to be used only on legal firing ranges or areas designated for hunting. This ordinance also applies to fireworks of any type -- firecrackers, rockets, etc. "It makes no difference if it's on private property," Captain Laird pointed out. During the past week, firearms have been discharged in the Upper Valley.

Chief Collins reminds residents that trash-burning requires a burning permit all year round. Some people are burning trash illegally. "Burning permits may be obtained at the Fire Station every day of the week from 8:30 a.m. to Noon," says Chief Collins.

BOB WOOD REPORTS. . .

A REGULAR COLUMN BY BOB WOOD, ASSEMBLYMAN - 34TH DISTRICT

I read an article recently which states that prior to the last couple of years, 73 percent of the state, county and city general obligation bonds, including school bonds, passed the required necessary two-thirds vote of the people. But in the last year or two the percentage of bond elections that have passed the two-thirds requirement has been less than 42 percent. I personally feel, as a freshman Assemblyman, that one of the principal reasons for the failure of bond elections to overcome the two-thirds requirement is the fact that its the only way that the average citizen taxpayer has of letting his elective representative know that he is sick and tired of using the property tax as a principal means of raising money for every new (usually needed) facility and especially those for educational purposes.

However, there is now some support building statewide for elimination of this two-thirds requirement. The question may very well be before the legislature next year in the form of an amendment to the constitution. Some say the action would appear to be coming none-to-soon, claiming a minority of voters in about one-half of the nation (twenty-one states require the two-thirds rule) are blocking new facilities for water supply, education, transportation, sanitation and recreation. All of which many claim go far in improving the quality of life and easing social tensions. Early in September a Northern California Superior Court ruled the two-thirds vote law was unconstitutional. The result of a suit brought about because of a $4.5 million dollar school bond issue failure even though 56.6 percent of those voting favored the expenditure. The case is now on appeal.

As many of you may or may not know, we (my wife and I) have three daughters. One married and gone; one married and living at home (teaching, her husband is coming home from Vietnam in January, we pray); and another 15 year old sophomore in King City High School. Like all 15 year olds she is involved in school activities of all kinds and she becomes quite vociferous in opposition to any plan that would require her to spend six months at home and six months in Sacramento. Her arguments are pretty sound, so we have decided at least for this coming year, that her Mother would stay in Monterey County with our daughter and I would like in Sacramento and come home on the weekends.

However, I can't stand the idea of living in a motel or hotel all week long so I convinced my banker that if he would let me buy a second-hand boat, I could live on the boat and save enough each month to make a payment on the boat from monies that would have gone for a motel room. So a couple of weeks ago I made a down payment on a second-hand boat that is moored on the Sacramento river and only about six blocks from the Capitol (as the crow files).

The boat being almost 10 years old didn't cost but a little more than some new cars do today, and it's large enough for one person to batch in. It has an electric plate to cook on, a desk with a light to work by, and a bunk to sleep in and all the other essentials (?), except it's a little small to install a much needed shower. I'm afraid to jump in the Sacramento river for a bath because of reasons which I can't mention in this column. However, a recently passed law will require all boat owners to have chemical toilets.

Enough for now--

BOB WOOD

LIONS CLUB-SPONSORED TRIP ABROAD . . .

SUSAN GANSEL, A GOOD-WILL AMBASSADOR TO JAPAN

BY BONNIE WELLER

Last week, Susan Gansel talked to the Lions and their wives about her six weeks in Japan this summer. Susan was one of 70 young Americans chosen to make the annual Lion-sponsored trek to Japan.

"The trip is sponsored by the Lions Club to establish a closer relationship between the two countries," Susan said. "I wish more people could feel the graciousness of the Japanese people. I went with an open mind, but I did not expect to feel so warm toward them. They never yell -- they get more done, and so quietly.They seem to have a good time wherever they go."

Susan applied for the program a year ago in August, but did not get word that she'd been accepted until a couple of months before they were to go. The Lions Club International Youth Exchange Program is open to relatives of members of the club.

In Los Angeles, Susan and the three who went with her parted from the others. They were flown by chartered plane to Japan, with a stop-over in Hawaii. There were 142 Japanese young people who came to the United States at the same time, to be entertained here.

Participants in the program pay for their own transportation, but at a reduced rate. And while in Japan, they live with Japanese families as guests.

A thoughtful girl, Susan says she learned more in six weeks there than she would have in many years of classes. She stayed with three different families in various prefectures, or states.

"You must use very basic language to communicate with them," Susan explained, pushing her long brown hair back over her shoulder. "You use few words, very explicit ones, and speak slowly." Smiling gently, she continued, "At times, I got impatient having to speak slowly so they'd understand. We had a terrible time.....In Europe, you can read the signs -- or look it up in the dictionary. But not in Japan -- their writing looks like a drawing."

Her dark eyes lifted, as she went on. "There are few Americans over there, yet you can usually find someone to translate enough to understand. Most of the time we could laugh about the communication problem."

Our photographer, George T.C. Smith, chatted with Susan and me. George had heard her talk to the Lions. He watched Susan carefully, waiting to capture her gestures with his camera. "Her hands express what a beautiful person she is inside," he told me.

As a matter of fact, we learned that Susan modeled for a sculptor here in the Valley some time ago. Studying under Alex Weygers, the artist called himself "The Dutchman". He sculpted only Susan's hands."Once I had to hold them in one position for two hours -- and he was only working on the thunb," she said.

Back to her trip....."The most famous place that I stayed in was Hiroshima -- which means 'City of Peace.' Children would stare at us, grown-ups too. I was treated like a queen every place I went....."

The family in Hiroshima had two daughters, ages 22 and 24. And the father is a doctor. "Hiroshima has a Peace Park and a museum," Susan said. "They don't want their children to forget the atom bombing, because they never want anything like that to happen again. But they don't blame anyone for it. In the museum, there are many shocking pictures."

When asked about sleeping arrangements, Susan replied that one family slept on western beds and another slept on the floor. "I didn't mind the floor," she told us, "because I like a hard bed."

We discussed customs and Susan told us that it takes a very gracious person to perform the traditional tea ceremony. "In Japanese homes, you're a guest. I like the formality -- they don't put on, it's sincere." Susan exhibits rare poise and maturity for a 19-year-old. And she epxresses herself unhesitatingly.

She showed us gifts from the families. A lovely dried-flower arrangements in a shadow-box was made for her by one of the mothers. "The three flowers in their arrangements, placed at different levels, represent heaven, earth, and man," Susan said.

Another artistic creation is a breadboard, which is pretty enough for a wall plaque. It is a fish carved from beautiful gray wood. "They were so sad when we left," Susan remarked in a wistful tone. "They treated me like a daughter."

Susan loved the Japanese folk-art. More than once, she stressed how much she admires the oriental simplicity.

"Almost every family has a wall-hanging," she said. "It's in a little alcove built especially for this purpose. A flower arrangement is placed underneath the scroll....." Her dark eyes widened, as she continued. "They do things I'd never think of -- they strip the stems of flowers, except for maybe two leaves at the top."

LIONS CLUBS IN JAPAN

According to Susan, Lions Clubs in Japan has much more prestige than here. "You have to have quite a bit of money to belong," she told us. "And they have a lot more members there, too. Hiroshima has seven clubs -- with 50 to 90 members in each club."

Stopping to sip coffee, she listened to our questions again. She says they drink lots of Coca Cola and fruit juice. "It gets very hot, so you drink a lot."

Most of the girls she met were between 20 and 25 and were attending various universities. "They wait until they get out of the university to marry," Susan said. "Over there, they don't have a middle-class like we do. There are no charge-accounts, so they pay cash for everything. They have to wait until they save enough money for the wedding, a place to live, furniture, and everything."

She went on to say that Japanese young people place much importance upon parental approval of their marriage partner. If the parents don't approve, they're not likely to marry.

"Their social life is different -- outside of Tokyo. In Tokyo, we had pizza and milkshakes." She smiled and tossed her hair back. "But elsewhere, we did simple things and came home early. The mothers stay home. Sometimes, I'd want them to go, but they feel their place is at home."

Times are changing, however, Susan says. "They're having student uprisings now, which is shocking to Japanese parents. The women have gained much more equality.....and the boys try to remember to open the door, but they aren't used to doing the things American boys do. They're used to women waiting on them."

Susan met a girl who'd gone to college in the United States. And she'd met a fellow whom she was considering marrying. In discussing the possibility with Susan, she said, "It doesn't matter if I love him. He'd make a good husband." This amazed Susan, who still holds to the American dream of marriage, based on mutual love.

In addition to many lovely pictures from her trip, Susan showed us some clippings from Japanese newspapers, which needless to say we couldn't read. But two were translated for her, and I'd like to share them with you:

Surprised at the Many Ships in Kanmon-Strait -- An American College Student Visits Shimonoseki

Miss Suzanne C. Gansel visited Shimonoseki City Office on August 12. She lives in California U.S.A. She goes to college, while she works. She was invited by Lions Club and came to Japan with about 70 members. Miss Suzanne and the other 3 members visited Yamaguchi pref.

Miss Suzanne was very glad to put on the Shimonoseki badge given by Mayor Ikawa. She listened to the explanation of this city and said with her bright-eyes, "The beauty of the countryside is impressive. I'm surprised at the many ships in Kanmon-Strait." She will go to Shimane on August 13.

Miss Suzanne C. Gansel visited the Shimonoseki City Office. She is a college student in California. She was invited by Shimonoseki East Lions Club.

She came to Japan with about 70 members, early in August. She stays at the home of a Lions Club Member, and is enjoying sight-seeing. She has very beautiful long hair and wear short-short-style dress. She was very glad to put on the friendly badge given by Mayor Ikawa. She told with a lot of gestures "The view of the ships at Kanmon-Strait is wonderful. I want to see the night-view too. Everything new I see and hear is interesting." After Shimonoseki she will visit at Tsuwano and will return home at the end of this month. Photo is Miss Suzanne -- having the badge put on by Mayor Ikawa.

I'm sure you will agree that the Lions chose a perfect ambassador of good-will. Having attended MPC for two years, Susan is now employed as attendance secretary at Carmel High School. She lives here in the Valley on Esquiline Road with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gansel. Her father is a member of the local Lions Club.

Susan would like very much to return to college and acquire a teaching certificate, in order to go into counseling. Let's hope she finds a way to accomplish her dream.

Mrs. Mummert dies unexpectedly

On Sunday at 4:33 p.m., the Carmel Valley Rescue Team received a call from the Sterling Mummert residence on Holman Road. Mrs. Felicia Mummert was found dead, when the emergency crew arrived.

PARENT EFFECTIVENESS COURSE TO BE OFFERED AT MIDDLE SCHOOL

Is there a stranger in your home? A lonely child, one you cannot communicate with? One on drugs, a hippy, or just an unhappy child?

Most parents vow they will be better parents than their own had been. All too often and too soon it appears that their love wasn't enough and they too have lost their children in some way. Their loved ones accuse them of not listening, of not caring. Is it that they do listen, but that they don't hear?

Dr. Thomas Gordon, psychologist, feels this is true. He gives an example of a child coming home from school with the statement, "I'm going to quit school." The parent hears the message and counters with logic. "Of course you are not going to quit, you need your education. How can you get along in our society with out an education." etc.

But, what is the child really saying? Could it be: I am unhappy at school, or I don't understand math, or I can't get along with a teacher or friends. Or even "I didn't make the football team and am disappointed." These are messages parents don't often hear unless they are trained to do so. Once the message is really clear it is fairly simple for the parent to help the child work through his problem.

Dr. Gordon is concerned with the lack of real communication between parents and children, husband and wife, teacher and student, or employer and employee. He has organized classes to help people learn to hear what others are saying, to state their own feelings honestly, and finally to reach a solution that is acceptable to all. In the five years that this course has been given it has stimulated enthusiastic reactions throughout the nation. Due to the demand a group of special instructors have been trained. Now Glen Leonoff, school psychologist, is offering this course on Parent Effectiveness Training. He comes to the peninsula from Marin County where he was teaching a parallel course in Teacher Effectiveness. He is currently teaching TET as an extension course from San Jose State College.

The class will be held in the Carmel Middle School library, and will start Thursday, October 30 with hours from 7:00 to 10:00. The group will continue for eight consecutive Thursdays. Registration will be limited to allow for maximum participation in the role playing, discussion. Couples are encouraged to attend.

People interested in registering for this course, or those who would like more information may call Mrs. Hugh Smith, 624-8953.

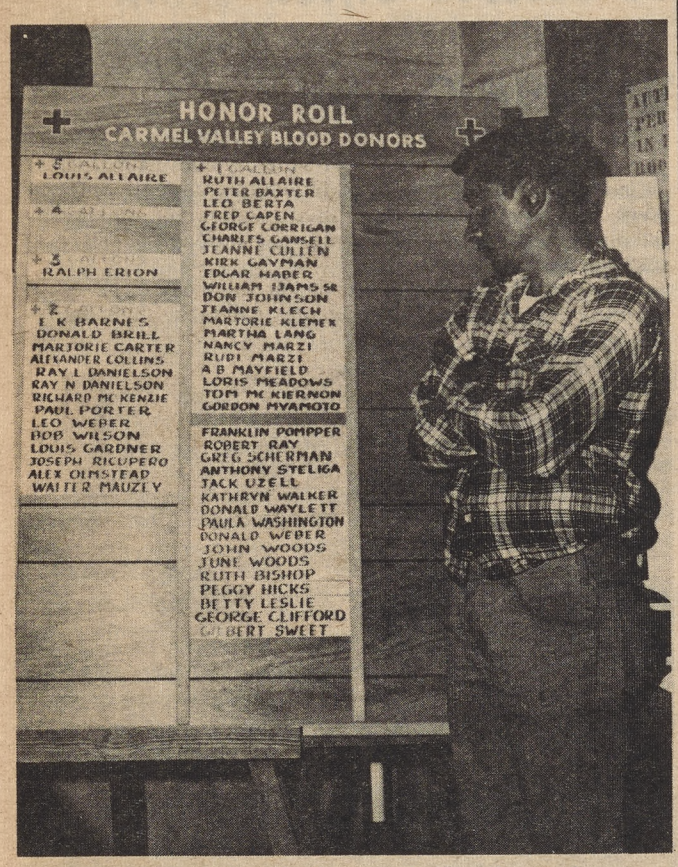
PINNED BY E.J. Mulrooney, Carmel Blood Program Chairman, for having donated 2 gallons of blood, Jean Klech flashes a happy smile.



SAL OCAMPO studies the honor roll intently. He has just given a pint of blood which brings him to the 1 gallon mark and his name will be placed on the board when it is brought up to date.

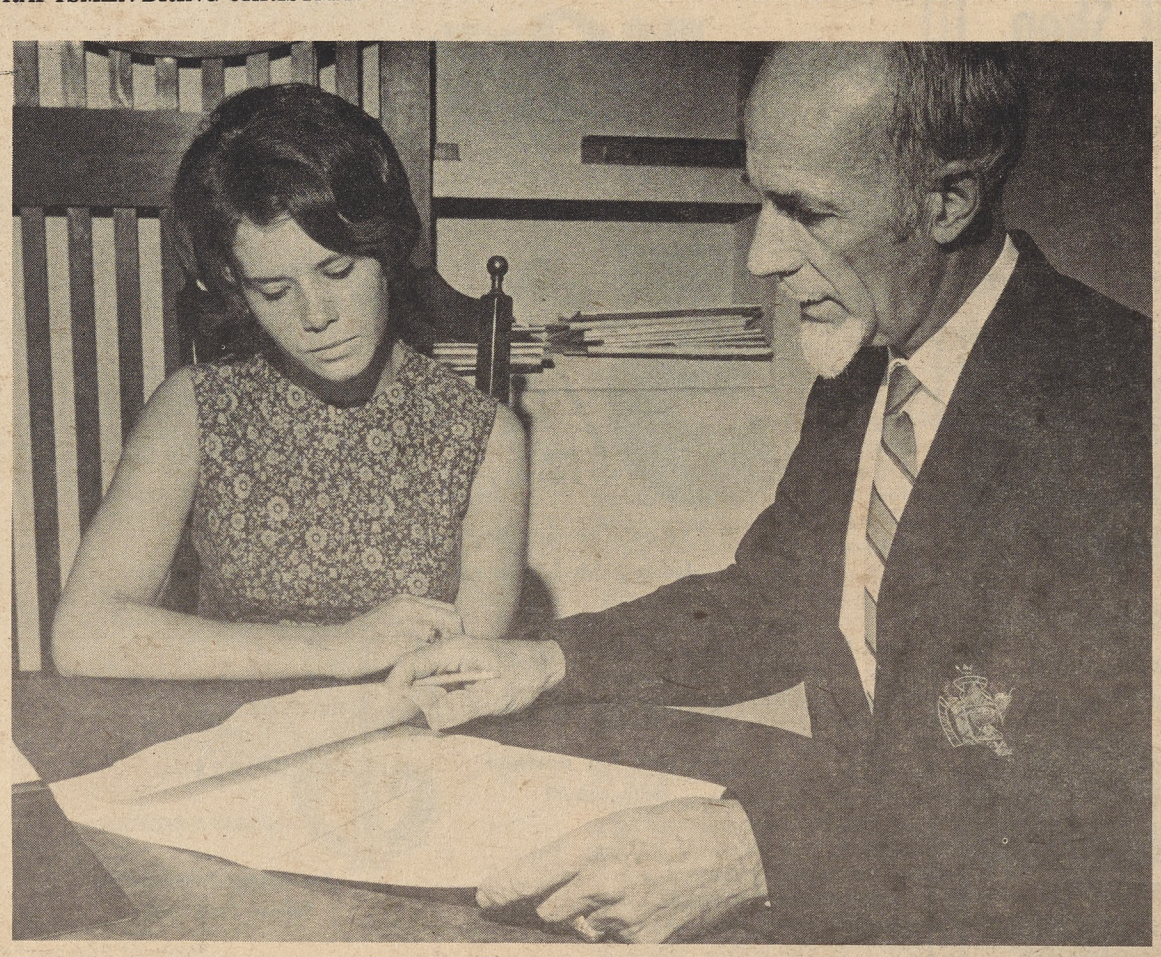
Crafts display at La Playa Hotel

"39 CRAFTSMEN BRING CHRISTMAS" will again be presented at the La Playa Hotel in Carmel, on Deceber 5, 6 and 7. As last year, it will feature the work of over 39 Northern California craftsmen, displaying their original items for sale for Christmas buying.

The committees chosen to work on this year's event are as follows: Decorations - Mrs. Philip L. Spiegl, Salinas and Mrs. Avis Ballard, Carmel; Publicity - Mrs. Robert Grabowski, Monterey and Mrs. Jerold Tweddell, Pacific Grove; Entertainment - Mrs. Hank Edwards, Salinas and Mrs. Joe Hancock, Salinas; Community Booths - Steve Brown, Pacific Grove and Glenn Mewhinney, Carmel Valley; president - Robert Grabowski, Monterey.

"39 CRAFTSMEN BRING CHRISTMAS" is the chief fund-raising event for the Monterey Peninsula's Fine Arts and Crafts Festival. The event will begin with a gala wine and wild boar preview on Friday night, December 5. On Saturday and Sunday the craftsmen will be presenting their creations for Christmas gifts priced from $1 to $200. The gifts range from original sketches by nationally known cartoonists to candles, and ceramics, metal sculpture, pottery, jewelry, leather work and children's toys.

The chief aims of The Fine Arts and Crafts Festival, a non-profit organization on the Monterey Peninsula, are to encourage educational activities in the field of art and crafts and to exhibit them during a festival. Because the Board of Directors is dedicated to serving the community, it hopes to continue its Arts and Crafts Festival for the Bicentennial.



MISS JOYCE CLINE senior at Seaside High School, listens as Captain Ralph Arndt, president of the LYCEUM of the Monterey Peninsula, explains the program for the "Think-In on Gifted Child Education and Talent Development", to be held in Carmel Friday and Saturday, cosponsored by the LYCEUM and the State of California Department of Education.

To observe Gifted Child Week in Carmel

One of the national highlights of National Gifted Child Week will be the gathering, in Carmel-by-the-Sea, of a selected group of educators, community leaders and talented students for a two-day "Think-In on Gifted-Child Education and Talent Development" on Friday and Saturday. The brainstorming sessions will be co-sponsored by the LYCEUM of the Monterey Peninsula in cooperation with the California State Department of Education.

According to LYCEUM President Ralph Arndt, the primary objective of the discussions will be to produce new creative approaches in offering maximum development of intellectually gifted children's talents. The twelve active participants in the idea-exchange will include an out-of-state consultant, seven specialists in education, two gifted students and two parent-representatives.

In addition, representatives of the three Monterey Peninsula school districts are expected to attend as observers.

The selection of participants and general supervision of the Think-In are under the direction of Irving S. Sato and Dr. Paul D. Plowman, consultants in the Education of the Mentally Gifted, California State Department of Education.

Headquartered at the Cypress West Inn in Carmel, the group will work intensively both days, with morning, afternoon, and evening sessions on Friday, two morning sessions on Saturday, concluding with a Think-In summary afternoon.

Robinson Canyon property owners oppose widening of bridges

Property owners on Robinson Canyon Road are organizing to oppose new bridges over the Carmel River and Robinson Canyon Creek, and widening of the road in both places.

A spokesman for the property owners said this week that a delegation will appear at a hearing next Tuesday on the proposed projects at the Board of Supervisors meeting in Salinas.

They have written to all the supervisors on the matter, and urge all other Valley residents sympathetic to their stand to do likewise.

"We feel that the widening of the road will not only destroy a lot of the natural beauty of the area, but will also tend to make the road a speedway, endangering the many children who use the road," the spokesman said.

Both bridges were badly damaged by the heavy rains of last winter, and the County Road Department plans at this time to replace both of them with wide new structures, at the same time making access to both of them easier by widening the road.

Residents of the area however feel that there is no need for such improvements, and wish the present right-of-way, with many curves, to be retained. They point out that there is no need for advanced improvements since Robinson Canyon Road does not serve a great deal of traffic. Conservation of the natural beauty of the area is foremost in their minds.

There is a precedent for their stand. Property owners in Corral de Tierra recently opposed the widening of the road to their area, and succeeded in getting the county to back down on its plans.

The Carmel Valley Property Owners Association is also supporting the Robinson Canyon residents.

It is reported that those living on Robinson Canyon Road in the immediate area affected are 100 percent against the Road Department's plans. They wish the bridges repaired to safety standards, but nothing more.

CVCYC Fund Drive falls short of goal

The CVCYC last July set their goal of income from individual donations at $5000. This income along with other income would have provided a 1969-1970 budget in excess of $9000. Donations to date are about $3500 and it is hoped more will be forth coming.

The recently approved budget of the CVCYC is $8400. which includes as income the sale of "Dyna Mite" the snack trailer. The insurance cost on this unit has been far in excess of any profits realized and therefore, the CVCYC Board of Directors voted to sell the trailer. The present asking price is $800.

The original budget proposed in July allocated $2200 for director salaries. Since the fund raising fell short the revised budget provides $1260. for part-time Director salary. Even with a reduced budget the CVCYC Board of Directors are confident that definite progress will be made in providing more and better programs in 1970 for Carmel Valley youth.

KIWANIS DONATION

The local Kiwanis Club last week voted a $100 donation to the CVCYC which will be used to pay the first months salary of the new director.

TWO ACCIDENTS ON MIRAMONTE ROAD

At 12:06 a.m. on Saturday, the emergency crew was called to Wills Fargo Restaurant. Mrs. Alla Moore, Kenet Street in Pacific Grove, hit a tree on Miramonte Road when the brake-linings went out of her car. A passing motorist brought her to Wills, knowing that she worked there. "If she hadn't hit the tree," Chief Collins said, "the car would have gone down onto the Valley Road, which is quite a drop." Mrs. Moore was treated for shock and transported to Community Hospital with possible chest injuries and a skinned knee.

In another mishap on Miramonte Road early Sunday morning, a car driven by Randolph J. Siino, 41 Berwick Drive, turned over on a curve 200 feet west of Los Robles Road. Siino and two passengers, Ray Stapleton and Rusty Vandervort, also of Carmel Valley, sustained minor injuries. They were taken to Community Hospital.

SEARS TO BE OPEN SUNDAYS THIS FALL

Sears Roebuck and Co. retail store in Salinas will open on Sunday during November and December.

Paul Beilstein, store manager of Sears Salinas said the retail store will open on Sunday beginning, November 23.

"For a number of years," Beilstein said, "Sears stores have remained closed despite a growing trend among other retailers to open on Sundays. It has become increasingly clear that a large and growing segment of the public enjoy shopping on Sunday," he said.

"Many of our customers have indicated a desire to be able to shop at Sears on Sunday," Beilstein continued. "Accordingly, Sears has decided to open certain of its retail stores on Sunday during November and December."

DAYLIGHT SAVINGS TIME ENDS SUNDAY

It's time to turn back clocks to mark the conclusion of daylight savings time, which officially ends at 2:00 a.m. on Sunday, October 26, 1969.

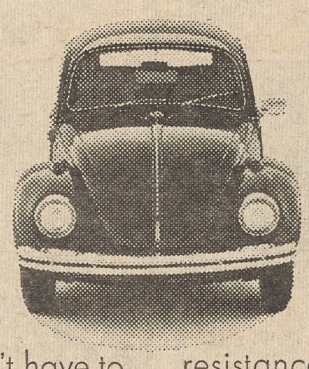
The 1970 VW will stay ugly longer.



What hath Volkswagen wrought this year?

A longer-lasting engine, that's what.

It's more powerful than the old engine. (Top speed: 81 mph vs. 78 mph.)

It has better acceleration.

But most important, it doesn't have to work as hard to get you where you're going.

Thus, according to every calculation known to man, it will last even longer.

And just to make sure the engine and every other VW part leads a long, happy life, we have another surprise for 1970:

The Volkswagen Diagnostic Checkup.

Now before the name scares you away, listen to what it is:

VW Diagnosis is an exclusive free service checkup by trained technicians using special diagnostic equipment.

The equipment is faster and more thorough than any mechanic alive.

And it's so advanced, it can actually tell you you have a problem early, before it becomes a real problem.

For instance, let's say the resistance in one of your spark plug wires is too high.

Nothing serious, but it could reduce your gas mileage and eventually foul up your spark plugs.

During a Diagnostic Checkup, our equipment can find and we can fix this problem in a matter of minutes.

When you buy a new VW, you're entitled to four of these advanced checkups free.

What could be a better deal than that?

You buy a bug.

We take care of the bugs.
